Toolboxes

Now new in the range

The DT Spare Parts brand is starting the year 2025 with a new range of toolboxes. In order to get the year off to a well-organised start, you need a well-organised range of tools. To match this, the Parts Specialists have released a new PS Tips video in which Niklas introduces the new toolboxes.

Toolboxes have been around for centuries, originally as simple wooden boxes used by craftsmen. Over the years, they have changed and evolved, just like tools. However, one thing has always remained the same throughout history: Regardless of whether you are a professional or a hobby mechanic, the right toolbox is a loyal companion for many years in the workshop. Various models of the DT Spare Parts brand can be ordered from the Diesel Technic Partner Portal.

The toolboxes are available in a variety of designs. This depends "on the requirements and the available space on the vehicle", explains Niklas. You can choose between aluminium or steel as the material. This makes the boxes extremely robust, resistant and durable. To protect the tools and materials inside, a seal is integrated around the box. This prevents water and other external contaminants from entering. "Another protective mechanism is a lock fitted with a protective cap and another device that allows you to use your own lock," says the Parts Specialist.

The large storage space in the individual models offers room for a number of work materials. "Wheel chocks, socket spanners, attachments for wheel scars, an air pistol with hose and much more from the DT Spare Parts brand can be stored there," Niklas shows in the video. With the toolboxes from DT Spare Parts, everything is immediately to hand and perfectly organised on the vehicle. This enables users to simplify their work processes, organise them more efficiently and be optimally equipped for all situations.
